

StyleStep is a year old!

WOW! Where have the last twelve months gone? It has been a whirlwind of colour and fashion, accessories and lipstick, draping and shopping, lovely ladies and lots of fun!!

Helen would like to say a huge THANKYOU to all that have supported StyleStep in it's first year and helped to make it such a great success.

Thursday 1st July saw thirty ladies gather at Spring Cottage, Partridge Green to celebrate a successful first year for StyleStep.

We drank Pimms in the evening sun and Helen gave a colour and style demonstration.

Firstly she showed how easy it is to look fabulous through using colour alone. This demonstration involved two models with very different colouring, each wearing a pashmina draped across their shoulders. Debbie, the first model has striking colouring with dark hair and deep brown eyes. She looked stunning in a bright purple pashmina. Jo, the second model has lovely soft blonde hair, pretty blue eyes and a lighter, more delicate skin tone. A muted lilac scarf complemented Jo's softer colouring and really brought out her eye colour.

The audience then watched as the scarves were swapped and before their very eyes they saw the colour drain from Debbie's face with the lilac pashmina being too soft for her colouring and they saw the strong purple scarf completely overpowering Jo's soft features.

Following the colour demonstration came a style illustration. Using a third model, Liz, Helen showed the power of understanding how to dress for your body shape. Liz was wearing white linen trousers that elongated her legs. On top she wore a white camisole underneath a lovely cardigan with an oversized collar in a really flattering colour. The cardigan nipped Liz in at the waist to show off her curves. Helen pointed out that although Liz is very slim, she is in danger of looking larger if she doesn't wear clothes that show off her shape. Liz then changed the cardigan for one in a much more "girly" style to show how easy it is to create a different look by simply changing one item.

Helen finished by highlighting the fact that although the same shapes would look great on someone with a similar figure type, the colours or the style may not be right. She explained that we should embrace the fact that we come in different shapes, colouring and sizes and that we all suit different looks.

Also present were Victoria from Victoria Hackett Handbags selling her handcrafted stylish bags, Deborah from DC Designer Jewellery showcasing her handmade, bespoke jewellery and Sarah from Green House

Clothing with a fabulous range of clothes to suit all shapes, sizes and styles.
